

SENATOR ARCHER'S REVERSE.

Belmont County Republican Committee Names Delegates to Congressional Convention

FAVORABLE TO J. C. HEINLEIN

For Delegate to the National Nominating Convention—Laylin's Candidacy Endorsed.

The meeting of the Belmont County Republican executive committee yesterday, at St. Clairsville, was rather a tame affair, and yet the committee manifested some interest among the members, as there seemed to be a division of sentiment among the eleven members as to whether Senator Archer or Hon. J. C. Heinlein should be favored as national delegate. These matters were not publicly discussed, but the underlying current was controlled by this feature of the case. All of the members of the committee are avowed administration people, so that the division of the committee as shown in the proceedings that follow was based upon the ambition of the men named.

One part of the committee proposed that the chairman select the sub-committee to equitably distribute the sixty-six delegates to the Bellaire congressional convention, and report a list, and the division came when another part of the committee proposed an amendment naming the sub-committee. This amendment carried and was first blood for Mr. Heinlein's candidacy. This was the only question that brought a test vote, those favoring Mr. Heinlein knowing the friendliness of the chairman for Mr. Archer.

The committee met, with all the members present, except Judge Hollingsworth, viz: L. E. Emerson, chairman; W. C. Cowen, secretary; D. H. Darrah, O. P. Mason, C. C. Carroll, Theodore C. Ayers, J. H. Gaston, Samuel Westwood, W. G. Hilton, N. V. F. Wilson. Hon. C. L. Weems held the proxy of Judge Hollingsworth. As soon as the roll call was completed, C. C. Carroll offered the following preamble and resolution, and moved its adoption. D. H. Darrah seconded the motion:

Whereas, This being the year of the presidential election and all political conventions being called unusually early because of this fact, and

Whereas, There are local contests over the spring election at various places in the county, the committee of this county, commending the idea of voters selecting their delegates to all conventions, seeking to meet all emergencies, called the county convention and primaries for the early dates named in April, unprecedented in this county, and

Whereas, The congressional convention was called to meet at an earlier date, and it being impracticable, it not illegal, to hold primaries at the regular election, therefore, be it

Resolved, That while this committee does not desire to assume the appointment of delegates to any convention, yet acting under the call of the congressional committee, and in view of the fact that there is no congressional contest, and the further fact that Hon. J. C. Gill will be renominated by the voters of every county in the sixteenth district, be it further resolved, That this committee proceed to select sixty-six delegates and sixty-six alternates to said congressional convention, apportioning the same to the various townships and precincts according to the Republican vote of last fall as cast for Governor George K. Nash, and to insure equitable distribution of the delegation, the chairman is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of three to select a list and report to this committee under this resolution.

Samuel Westwood offered a substitute that delegates to the congressional convention to be held at Bellaire, April 4, be appointed by the committee, and that Messrs. Ayers, Wilson and Mason be appointed to apportion and report a list of delegates. This amendment was seconded by Mr. Weems. W. W. Cowen moved that the vote be taken by ballot. This was seconded and the chair stated the motion. T. C. Ayers objected, but the ballot was taken and the amendment carried. The result was: Ayers, 6; nays, 5.

It was then moved that the original motion as amended be adopted; ayes, 6; nays, 5.

Mr. Weems moved that the committee recess until the sub-committee prepare the list of delegates, and this carried unanimously, and the sub-committee retired to select a list of delegates. Mr. Heinlein assisting in the work, and Messrs. Darrah and Mason agreeing upon the delegates from Bellaire and Putney township. The sub-committee was out about two hours discussing names for delegates, and finally reported the following list by townships, and the list was confirmed by the whole committee, without a dissenting vote:

Columbus—J. C. Brown, E. W. Dungan and A. Y. Henderson.

Chaplain Chidwick's Lecture. In speaking of Chaplain Chidwick, who will appear at the Carroll Club on next Monday evening, the Pittsburgh Post said: "Whether he was telling in luminous words, like cablegram flashes, the horrors of the night the 'Maine' was blown up, or giving heartfelt praise to the women of the Red Cross and the sisters in religion; whether he was upholding the justice of war for her martyrs' sake, or uttering fervent apostrophes to the flag and American valor, Chaplain John P. Chidwick was eloquent, graphic, fascinating in his lecture at the Carnegie Music Hall last evening."

A Correction. To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR—In recent published accounts of the charges against L. W. Barr, Mrs. Margaret White is called his grandmother. Will you kindly allow a correction on this point and a little family history?

Mrs. White is the widow of the late Z. G. White, of Moundsville, W. Va. She is of Scotch-Irish descent, born near Belfast, Ireland. Her parents were David and Margaret Fleming, of the well-known family of Fleming.

Mrs. White's grandmother on her mother's side was Jane Campbell Dowler, who was a niece of Thomas, the father of Alexander Campbell, of Bethany College fame. There was no relationship whatever between Mrs. White and L. W. Barr until her granddaughter was so unfortunate as to marry him. WEST LIBERTY.

Jeffries-Sharkey Contest.

Manager Feltner has, by special arrangement with Messrs. W. A. Brady and Thomas O'Rourke, succeeded in obtaining the famous pictures of the Jeffries-Sharkey contest. Much has been written about the perfection of these pictures, but the imagination scarcely conveys how vivid and thrilling they are in the way of realism. The movements of the pugilists, their feints, their blows, their parries, their advances and retreats, are shown as clearly as if one was at the ringside. The exhibition is said to be extremely fascinating. Wherever these pictures have been shown, they are said to have created the greatest excitement and attracted the very best people. So deep is the interest, that applause follows the movements of the gladiators, and there are shouts of approval, reminding one of some scenes at the actual contest. The pictures will be shown for three nights and two matinees, beginning Monday evening, March 26, at the Opera House.

"Peck's Bad Boy."

That "Peck's Bad Boy" has lost none of its magnetic powers as a theatrical attraction is demonstrated by the large audiences that are witnessing the excellent productions at the Grand. The title role is sustained by a young lady, who is a very capable actress, and every member of the cast does very satisfactory work, in addition to contributing vaudeville specialties. It is one long laugh from the rise to the fall of the curtain. "Peck's Bad Boy" will be repeated at the matinee and night performances to-day.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Spring Medicine for exhausted nerves and the overworked body. Only when the nerves are weakened and inflamed do you know that they exist.

JOHN H. WILLIAMSON, Grand Island, Cal., writes:

"Although I am 73 years old, I have no particular disease, but am a hard worker. I use Paine's Celery Compound as a spring medicine to restore lost energy. I have used the Compound for years and find it very beneficial. When I take it, it seems as though I did double work."

Paine's Celery Compound is a medicine compounded to strengthen nerves, stomach, liver and kidneys.

AMUSEMENTS.

One of the many and varied subjects included in the Lyman H. Howe Moving Picture Exhibition is one showing a troupe of trained elephants. At the opening of the picture they are seen asleep on the ground with their keeper, and one huge monster standing on guard. Suddenly the guard becomes aware of the approach of an enemy, and is in the act of arousing his companions when the attacking party, consisting of men armed with rifles, is upon them. Quickly these giants of the wilderness swing into line, and each with a cannon opens a return fire. A lively battle follows, which is kept up until the trainer falls, whereupon the baby elephant—wounded and limping, displays a flag of truce, under the protection of which two of the elephants carry off their fallen leader. This picture in point of composition and action is a marvel in the moving picture art, and will be shown in addition to over fifty other novel and intensely interesting scenes by the original Lyman H. Howe Moving Picture Company, at the Opera House, next Friday and Saturday nights, with Saturday matinee.

"Uncle Josh" Coming.

The most beautiful story of American life told on the stage will be presented at the Grand Opera House. The famous play of "Uncle Josh Spruceby" is a story of New England life full of fun that keeps the audience in a merry mood through the four acts, and with a vein of pathos that will cause a tear or two to trickle down the cheek. The scene is laid in Vermont and some of the characters are taken from the life and daily habits of the people the author met there. The company presenting the play this season is an efficient one, and in addition to considerable special scenery, a first class orchestra fills an important part. The engagement at the Grand is for a half week, commencing Thursday night.

Along the Landing.

Messrs. Piersol, Thornton and Britton, of Brownsville, Pa., owners of the Monongahela steamers Isaac M. Mason, Admiral Dewey and Leni Leoti, have just bought the steamer Edgar Cherry, at Nashville, and will put her in the Pittsburgh and Morgantown trade as a companion to the Admiral Dewey. The Cherry is to be delivered to Paducah, where Captain John Britton, will get her. She is 170 feet long, thirty feet wide, and has compound engines. The Cherry is a first-class boat in every respect, and will make a fine addition to the line. The price paid was $3,000.

The marks at 6 p. m. Tuesday showed 10 feet 6 inches and rising. The extent of the rise may be over 20 feet, but it is not likely. The News' prediction of 30 feet was very wild.

To-morrow's Cincinnati packet is the Queen City.

Pittsburgh River News.

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—The pleasure steamer Dido, owned by Thomas J. Sanford, which at one time was the property of Howard Jones, deceased, sank last night at the Esplan landing of W. H. Brown's Son. The yacht turned over on its side and is completely submerged. It is not known what caused the boat to sink. It is thought that it can be raised without difficulty. The yacht was a sternwheeler and was complete in every particular, having its own electric light plant. The yacht is not over forty feet long, and during Captain Jones' life time he took great pleasure in cruising about the rivers in it.

There will be a good coal boat stage of water to-morrow, when nearly all the towboats in port will go south with loads of empties. The boats that are here and which will take advantage of the rise are the Mariner, Cruiser, Tornado, Ed Roberts, Jim Wood, Dave Wood, Pacific No. 2, Coal City, Robert Jenkins, Hornet No. 2, Volunteer, John W. Alles and Vallant. The Enterprise will be here to-night and the Dick Fulton will be in to-morrow. There is much coal loaded and all of these boats will get a trip. Most of the coal is confined in coal boats and is for shipment to New Orleans.

At present the rivermen are greatly stirred up over the erection of the proposed bridge near Eleventh street by the Pennsylvania Company. The United States engineers will meet next Monday in the federal building to hear arguments in reference to rebuilding the bridge. The bridge, the rivermen say, has caused more damage than any other structure on the Allegheny river, and if it is not built at least fifty feet below low water mark the commerce of the river may forever be threatened. There is a cross current there now and streamers say the bridge should be strengthened. The company wants to build a foot channel spans and extend the present piers thirty feet up the river. The bridge is to be a double decker.
